MORE OF THE STORM.

We hear of the effects of the late hurricane in all directions. The Philadelphia papers of Monday teem with accounts of its ravages. We have already given full details of its progress to the Westward. A correspondent of the Norfolk (Va.) Southern Argus, writing from North Carolina (Elizabeth City) on the 18th inst. thus depicts the state of affairs in that region:

This place has been visited by one of the severest and most destructive storms that has occurred here for many years. It raged during the whole day yesterday, last night, and to-day, accompanied with a heavy fall of rain; and even now (10 o'clock, Thursday night) the wind howls fearfally, and there are no signs of immediate abatement. Our whatves present a scene of great disaster—vessels thrown up on them, and lumber scattered in every direction. The river is swollen to an unusual hight. Several houses have been blown down, and a large number of trees torn up by the roots, bridges a wept away, Acc.

But, serious as has been the effect in this immediate vicinity, it is not more so than upon the agri-diate vicinity, it is not more so than upon the agri-cultural interest. Whole fields of corn—the great staple of this vicinity—have been levelled with be earth, and the fodder literally toro into shreds. I have not, as yet, heard of any loss of life, but dread to hear from the coast.

We gather the following items from the Philadelphia and Trenton papers of Monday:

We rode up the Schuylkill on Saturday aftermon as far as Phenixville, on the Reading Railroad, for the purpose of viewing the condition of the flooded river and the devastations wrought along its banks, the particulars of which appeared in our columns that morning. The appearance of things was equally grand and metancholy. One would scarcely have supposed the usually peaceful Schuylkill canable of assuming so wild and turbulent a scarcely have supposed the usually peaceful Schuylkill capable of assuming so wild and turbulent a character. It was swelled almost to a Mississippi, which in the quieter portions it resembled in the color and angry flow of its waters; while at the dams it looked like a vast and furious mountain torrent, pitching down rocky declivities, the dams themselves being nearly lost in the hight and fury of the flood. The numerous factories, iron works and dwelling houses on both sides of the atream, with the tide flowing through their lower stories; the towpaths and locks of the canal, with portions of the Norristown Railroad, hidden from sight; the gardens, meadows and colitivated fields in part or wholly submerged; the wrecks of canal boats, feaces and outbouses seen here and there; and, worse than all, the parties of men at intervals dragging the river with seines and grapnels, to redragging the river with seines and grapnels, to re-cover the bodies of the drowned, presented a series cover the bodies of the drowned, presented a series of very exciting and painful spectacles.

This flood—a Summer one—the result of rains—we may say a day's rain—was, in every respect, remarkable. It has proved as evanescent as it was violent. The waters have already, in a great measure, subsided. Nor was it, as the accounts abow, a mere local inundation, confined to the Schuylkill. So far as beard from, the rain was very extensive, swelling the streams in various quarters and doing much mischief, as at Carbondale. ters, and doing much mischief, as at Carbondale, where the damage appears to have been of a very serious character. Flood at Carbondale.—We learn from a letter received by a gentleman of this city, that on the morning of the 19th, Dam No. 1 of the Delaware and Hodson Company's works broke and flooded he town, filling the cellars and damaging property to a considerable extent. But the most serious disaster which has ever befallen this Company occurs by the giving way of the Dam, which had diverted the Lackawana from its natural channel at Carbondale. In returning to its old channel all the mines at this place were suddenly filled with water. These constituted the largest portion of the Company's operations—where it has excavated coal for more than twenty years, and extend over many acres. Without other aid than the pumps heretofore in use, it is supposed the mines cannot be cleared for months. The mines at Archibald were above the water and safe. Two boys, ibald were above the water and safe. Two boys, brothers, were drowned in the mines—one having gone in to warn the other of the danger. [Ib.

The steamer Kenebec, Capt Flowers, which left here for Cape May and New York with nearly 600 passengers, on Thursday last, and for which the most intense interest was felt in this city for her safety, arrived at this port last might from Naw York, with the brig McMain, of Warren, Mc. in tow. This latter vessel, it appears, from information received by us, encountered the tremendous gale on Thursday between Capes Henry and Henlopen, and shortly after 2 o'clock the next morning had her masts broken in consequence, and her hold two-thirds filled with water. The McMain belongs to Nesmits & Son of New York, and was on her first trip to Savannab, Geo. with ballast, having left that port on Wednesday. The wife of Capt Lawry, of the brig, was on board, and at the time the masts broke was in one of the state-rooms below. When the water dashed into her midships Mrs Lawry was thought of by her husband, and ne qaickly solzed a rope, threw it to her, and thus saved her, by means of the rope being ted round her waist, and she leaping, amid the raging tempest, out of the window. The escape from an awful death was really a miraculous one. The captain of the Kennebuc seeing her at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. really a miraculous one. The captain of the Ken-nebec, seeing her at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Went to her assistance, and landed her safely at this port last night, after a sail of his hours from the landing at Cape May. The recentrain caused the river to raise higher than at any time since the great freshed 1840. It is supposed that it was twelve feet above its usual level. All Saturday, logs, sawed timber, fonces, and various kinds of lumber came down the river, the the shore was lined with men, women and children securing it. Several canal boats and sowe its passed down, and some wood-work, 150 feet loss, supposed to have been connected with the loc, supposed to have been connected with the Canal works at New Hope, lodged in the creek near Mornsville. We heard that the Delaware Division of the Pennsylvania Canal was overflowed, and the bank has given way at Center Bridge, and that in the same neighborhood, about Brysheep had been drowned, and some were seen Sity sheep had been drowned, and some were seen seeing here.

One man went down the river on part of a log mi, having got on at Tayloraville—he was taken aff at Boats Trenton. The floating wharf used by the Edwin Forrest was upset by a large tree, and the boat had to land her passengers on the blaff at the Bolling Mill. In Lamberton a large number of trees were blown down by the gale on Thursday, and reveral had to shift their anchorage to avoid its arry. The "oldest inhabitant" says this is the hand water freshet that has happened since '40. The two continued to rise until yeaterday morning, sans when it has failen several feet.

Storm and Freshet in the Susquebanna Valley.

Correspondence of The Tribune Owego, Friday, July 19. A storm is upon us unparalleled in wild fary Yesterday at 10 A. M. the rain began to fall without wind or thunder, in gentle abundance. The mountain torrents soon swelled, and the coasequence has been terrible. The crops along the flats of the river and the larger creeks, are greatly injured, and in some intervals entirely ruined. The bridges on the New-York and Erie Railroad, from Owego to Elmira, have been greatly injured, and several have been swept away. But this dis aster need not impair the travel on this road, as passengers can take the Cayuga and Sasquehanna Road and Cayuga Lake boats to the Northern or Auburn and Rochester Road and lose no time.

I understand from the engineer that the Eric Road will be soon in repair; an elli-iest force having been already engaged by the Superintendent of this division.

The rain continues to fall without intermission,

The rain continues to fall without intermission, and the wind blows equal to a Buffalo gale. (A friend at my elbow suggests that it is occasioned by the near approach of the New-York and Eric Road to Lake Eric!)

The Susquehanna is not at its flood. It is there fore evident that this terrible storm is confined in narrow limits; extending, perhaps, not to exceed sixty miles east and west. Communication having been cut off, I am not wholly apprised of the amount of damage the flood has caused westward. It must be I think, very great along the rich valleys

Flood in the Mohawk Valley.

The Albany Evening Journal of Saturday, says:—Copious showers of rain have fallen here, in the valley of the Mohawk and in the immediate vicioity of this city during the past forty-eight hours, which has caused a heavy flood. The river commenced rising yesterday afternoon, but no fears were entertained, at that time, that the water would reach the top log on the dock, and but little, if any, property was removed. About ten o'clock the water commenced rising rapidly, and before if any, property was removed. About ten o'clock the water commenced rising rapidly, and before midnight the occupants of warehouses on the dock and pier were summoned to their business abodes to protect their property, which they were obliged to remove to the second loft and on boats. A large majority succeeded in removing their goods before the water reached the first floor. A small quantity of flour was wet on the pier, which is, as far as we could learn, the extent of the loss here.
Early this morning a quantity of lumber was carried down the river; but since that time only an occasional log has been seen. From daylight until noon the water rose quite rapidly, averaging from noon the water rose quite rapidly, averaging from two to four inches an hour, and was still rising when we left.

State-st. bridge could only be approached by boats, and the entire dock was navigable for sloop yawls, and a portion of it for canal boats. At the foot of Hamilton st. a floating bridge has been erect ed, by which persons are enabled to get to and from the steamboats. The cellars of all the buildings east of Broadway are filled with water, while those in the streets south of Hudson-st. are par-

A flood at this season, such as we are now ex A flood at this sesson, such as we are now experiencing, is a very uncommon occurrence in this vicinity. We are informed by a member of one of the old mercantile houses, that in the month of August, upward of thirty years ago, a flood occurred here, when the waters rose to the hight of several inches on the first floor of the stores on the dock, but that he never knew such a flood in the month of July, during a period of forty years.

Fears are entertained here that the banks of the canal may have been washed away; but we have made diligent inquiry from passengers arriving from the west, and have as yet been unable to learn of any breaks.

from the west, and have as yet been unable to learn of any breaks.

The waters of the Mohawk continued to rise rapidly until last evening. The banks of the river were overflowed, with thousands of acres of the flats. A great deal of cut grass was swept away, and other crops extensively injured. It is so unusual to have a flood at this season of the year, that no one was prepared for it. Crops are destroyed or seriously injured on fields which had not been overflowed before in mid-summer within the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

Many of the small bridges on the turnpike are missing, as well on the roads north of the valley. The Utica Gazette of the 20th says the dirt on the track on the Rallroad was removed at 9 A. M. yesterday. Major Priest worked with 300 men all night, and nothing but his perseverance could have removed the obstacles so rapidly. The dam

A large party arrived here from the north, yesterdsy, that were turned back from their journey in consequence. They report the Rutland and Burlington Road impassable beyond Ludlow. I suppose the report is somewhat exaggerated, and that the damsges will be repaired in a few days.

The monotony of a rainy day was broken a little last Saturday by the discovery of a couple of hotel thieves in a gentleman's room at the U.S. Hotel. The gentleman [Mr. Ryrie, brother of Capt R. of one of the Cunard steamers] going to his room found the door locked and a key inside; a moment for he tried the door it was opened, and the two found the door locked and a key inside; a moment after he tried the door it was opened, and the two men began to give excuses for being there, but he tried to detain them until help arrived. They man-nged to get away from him, but were soon captured and taken before Justice Kellogg, who committed them to Ballston Jail for the next Court. They gave the names of C. K. Hall and J. B. Jackson— The charples midd had discovered them about and The chambermaid had discovered them about and sent for a porter before Mr. Ryrie went to his room, so that their arrest was only hastened a short time by it. The care at the princ pal hotels is such that a stranger has but little chance to steal anything by daylight.

The Alban, Atlas of Monday says: The waters of the Eudson at this city have been more swollen during the present flood than ever known before at this season of the year; and with the exception of the Spring of 1849, perhaps higher than at any time within the recollection of many of our citizens. The water rose about 18 inches from 9 o'clock on Saturday night to 7 oclock on Sunday morning, when it reached its hight, which was full six feet over the pier at a point toward the upper end and highest part. From that hour the water began to subside, and has now failen over four feet. Upon inquiry we learn that our lumber merchants have suffered some loss, probably to the extent of $5,000. Although our produce merchants, and others, have been subjected to much trouble and inconvenience, we do not learn that any serious damage has we do not learn that any serious damage has occurred to them. TORONTO, Monday, July 15. Notwithstanding its usually very large and manageable majority, the Government has sustained a defeat on a motion to fix the Postmaster General's salary at $3,200. An amendment, substatuting $3,000 was moved by Mr. Boulton of Toronto, and carried by the casting vote of the Chairman-the House being in Committee of the Whole-Mr. Scott, of Two Mountains, whose vote was the death of the last two preceding administrations. The defeat is not of a kind to render resignation a duty on the part of the Government. If defeated on the principle of a bill, there would be no alternative but resignation. The sum proposed by them for the salary of the Postmaster General can hardly be looked upon as excessive; and the difference between it and that voted by the amendment, only $200, is so trilling that people at amendment, only $200, in so triting that people at a distance may wonder why it should have been considered of sufficient importance to bring about a defeat of the ministry. And in fact it was not that mere difference of amount that produced this result. The ministry had acted with the worst faith in the whole question of retrenchment, and the temper of the House had been tried too far by Executive trickery. The Finance Minister, Mr. Hinoks, as a member of the retrenchment committee, had taken down his forces and produced a reversal of as a member of the retrenchment committee, had taken down his forces and produced a reversal of the whole proceedings of the committee. The consequence was the report was merely an expression of the will of the government. The question of the salaries of the members of the government was evaded altogether, and the governor general's salary left to be named by Earl Grey, the uncle of Lady Eigin. The minority of the committee offered a report, but the rules of the House did not admit of its reception. It was this conduct of the governreport, but the rules of the House did not admit of its reception. It was this conduct of the government, through its organ the finance minister, that put the House out of temper and led to the defeat of the government. The sabinet is said to be waking up to a sense of its true position, and it is rumored that in a few days they will come down with a scheme of retrenchment. They will propose to fix their own salaries at $1,200 a year; which is a deduction of $800 from the amount they now receive. If they be defeated on this proposal, I think they will be bound to resign. I think it doubtful that they will propose any scheme of the doubtful that they will propose any scheme of the

They are also most anxious to get home, but two or three motions for morning and Saturday sittings have been defeated.

A new School bill, copied from the obsolete law of the State of New-York, has been passed. In some respects it differs, however, from any of the School Laws that have been in operation in your State. It establishes a Council of Public Instruction, and prevents the use of any books that are not specially authorized by this body, in any of the Common Schools. Believe not that this is done merely for the sake of uniformity. It is copied from the practice of despotic Prussis, and American books have been excluded and are to be excluded from a fear that they would instil Republican prinfrom a fear that they would instil Republican principles into the minds of the rising generation. The first occasion of excluding American books was a statement in an American geography that the American Government is the best in the world.— This despotic provision of the bill was passed over without scarcely a remark, while the Superintend-ent's salary of $2,000 was debated stilly four nights, at a cost of many thousand dollars. The principle of "Free Schools," existing in many States of the Union, has not been embodied in the bill. There was a good deal of discussion on the question of permitting the establishment of separate Schools for colored persons, which was finally settled by the adoption of an amendment permitting the establishment of such Schools whenever they are petitioned for by twelve heads of families, for whose benefit they are to be established. The same provision extends to Unitarians and Roman Catholics.

A bill to incorporate the "Elgis Association," for forming a colony of colored persons in the county of Essex, opposite the State of Michigan, is before the Legislature. The Company has subscribed $16,000 for the purpose of founding the Colony.—There is one petition against this scheme, but I suppose the bill will pass. At Co-bourg the waters of the Lake receded several feet, and then rushed back upon the shore 70 feet above their usual bounds. At Lake Scugog, several miles north of Lake Ontario, an immense water spout was observed to carry up a stream of water the size of a large river. The tornado extended to other parts of the country, destroying the growing crops, leveling the forest, and unroofing or overturn-ing buildings, and doing other damage. L. C.

MEDICINES

VEGETABLE MEDICINES, MINERAL MEDICINES.

THERE is a strong and deepening conviction in the public mind, as well as the medical profession, that the remedies supplied by the vegetable kingdom are more safe, more successful, and less permicious in the cure of diseases than mineral medicines.

The public at large don't like the way these poisonous dregs (as most of them are) act.

They are not satisfied that the climax and perfection of all matters, all most of them are act.

They are not satisfied to extirptic one disease by installing another. They will not believe that bartering or exchanging diseases is curing them. To remove hilliary, scrottleous, or febrile diseases; 'its to purify the blood, And no medicine has ever been invented ball so effectual as Dr. S. P. M. W. WARLAND, the editor of the Lowell Gounce, Majar the following trinute to GOURAUD'S Total to the Lowell Gounce, We observe that Carleton & Howey of this city advertise GOURAUD'S Island Medicated Stoap. It is long since we have seen the article, and do not refer to it in reference to the purpose to which it is said to be more particularly applied. But we can say, from some experience years back, that it is by far the best article to be used in shaving that was ever manufactured it costs a little more than swall best shaving soap, but there is nothing in the market that can compare with it in this regard. We can traily recommend it to every man who shaves thinself, and uses soap for that purpose, instead of any of its substitutes.

Mr. Warland does not full justice to the admirable qualities of GOURAUD'S Italian Medicated Stoap; it is, moreover, the most wonderful compound ever invested for carrieg tan, freckies, pimples and all sith diseases, and so mother who values the health of her triant should use say other soap in its abbutions than GOURAUD'S Soap.
